Teachers with right-brain strengths generally prefer to use hands-on activities to a lecture format. In concert with the right-brain preference of seeing the whole picture, these teachers incorporate more art, manipulatives, visuals, and music into their lessons. They tend to embrace Howard Gardner's multiple intelligences.

This Is Your Brain on Cool - Harvard Business Review

Even though the brain is just 2% of your body weight, it uses around 20% of all your energy from the blood and oxygen in your body. That's a lot for such a small organ.  Your brain stops growing when you're 18, but don't be calling your parents silly just yet. It actually keeps on developing and learns new things until you're in your 40s.
