A "curate's egg" is something that is described "truthfully or not" as partly bad, but also partly good. In its original usage, it referred to something that is obviously and entirely bad, but is described out of politeness as nonetheless having good features that redeem it. This meaning has been largely supplanted by its modern usage, which refers to something that is an indeterminate ...

The grand objective of the Savior's gospel was summarized succinctly by President David O. McKay (1873-1970): "The purpose of the gospel is to make bad men good and good men better, and to change human nature." 1 Thus, the journey of mortality is to progress from bad to good to better and to experience the mighty change of heart to have our fallen natures changed (see Mosiah 5:2).
