But, of course, it's all been taken as most ghost-tales are. Yet, now, it would seem that there must be something in the old story about it being able to act on its own, or in the hand of some invisible thing. At least, that's how it seemed to everyone when I arrived and began to look into things a bit.

'The thing now, was to search the Chapel, which is small and extremely old. It is very massively built, and entered through only one door, which leads out of the castle itself, and the key of which is kept by Sir Alfred Jarnock, the butler having no duplicate. 'The shape of the Chapel is oblong, and the altar is railed off after the usual fashion.

Do you not think that there are things which you cannot understand, and yet which are; that some people see things that others cannot? â€¡ Ah, it is the fault of our science that it wants to explain all; and if it explain not, then it says there is nothing to explain. ~ B. Stoker lâ€™TMve always found a lot of truth in the mystical approach to life.
