A hill figure is a large visual representation created by cutting into a steep hillside and revealing the underlying geology. It is a type of geoglyph usually designed to be seen from afar rather than above. In some cases trenches are dug and rubble made from material brighter than the natural bedrock is placed into them. The new material is often chalk, a soft and white form of limestone ...

Love this paint, and love the color. It is definitely a true white, as others have mentioned. As with all painting projects, you'll want to make sure that you're not painting in 20 degree weather -- we picked a particularly cold weekend for this project and it definitely took 3 coats even with heavy sanding.
